Autofil Bottle-Top Vacuum Filtration

The Autofil® Vacuum Filtration System is a disposable, sterile, vacuum operated unit used for the preparation of buffers, tissue culture media, microbiological media, and other biological fluids. Utilizing the hardware avoids potential contamination by eliminating any unnecessary fluid transfer to the media bottle post-sterilization, and reduces the risk of spills.

The complete system includes a Foxx Life Sciences SECUREgrasp® media bottle attached to the filter. Autofil® is also available as a funnel only bottle-top filter. Both options have an upper filter funnel with dust cap that contains a 0.1µm (mycoplasma filtering grade), 0.2µm (sterilization grade), or 0.45µm (clarification grade) asymmetric PES membrane. Our membrane is low protein binding and surfactant free.
